Dove Creek CWMU Description

The Dove Creek CWMU is located south of Junction Valley which forms the junction between the Grouse Creek Mountains on west and the Raft River Mountains on the north-northeast. Much of the Unit is located on what is called the Dove Creek Mountains. Marble Canyon Peak at about 8300 feet is the high point of the Unit. This peak is on the west side of the Unit. It drops away to 6400 feet on the north and 6000 feet on the south. While the west side of the Unit is mountainous terrain, the east side is much flatter, 5900 feet in the north and 5600 feet in the south from the Geologic effects of the ancient Lake Bonneville. Starting in the north there are several canyons that cut the unit, Road Canyon (7300 feet to 6000 feet), Marble Canyon (8000 feet to 7200 feet), Poison Canyon (7500 feet to 6000 feet), and Muddy Canyon (7500 feet to 5800 feet).

On the northwest half of the Dove Creek Cooperative Wildlife Management Unit (CWMU), the Unit is dominated by Inter-Mountain Basins Montane Sagebrush Steppe (62). On the south-east half the Unit is dominated by a mixture of Inter-Mountain Basins Big Sagebrush Shrubland (48) and Great Basin Pinyon-Juniper Woodland (37). Scattered throughout the Unit, but mostly in the middle are patches of Great Basin Xeric Mixed Sagebrush Shrubland (49) and Inter-Mountain Basins Cliff and Canyon (8).
